

The diagram consists of two large, dark gray rectangular areas representing different application environments. The left area is labeled 'Native App' at the bottom, and the right area is labeled 'React-Native' at the bottom. In the upper portion of the 'Native App' area, there is a white dashed rectangular box containing the word 'Component'. In the upper portion of the 'React-Native' area, there is a solid teal rectangular box containing the word 'Component'. A white double-headed horizontal arrow connects the right side of the dashed box in the 'Native App' area to the left side of the teal box in the 'React-Native' area, indicating a bidirectional relationship or interaction between the two components.

Component

Component

Native App

React-Native